Resolution Empowering
Chief Executive To For-

Launched in Senate.

APPROVAL ASKED FOR ARMS TREATY

Senate Urged To Approve Convention Calling for Licensing on Ground It
Will Lessen War Peril.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—A general tightening of the regulations governing the exportation of arms, with special attention to be given to ending the jungle warfare between Bolivia and Paraguay, was asked today by President Roosevelt.

The president sent to congress a message calling for senate ratification of international agreements that would call for licensing arrangements for international arms shipments. He said it would help to end the "mad race in armament which it permitted to continue may result in war."

A little after the message went to the capitol, the state department sent the chairman of the senate and house foreign relations committees a measure to allow the president to issue executive orders forbidding the sale in the United States of arms to Bolivia or Paraguay for use in their war over the Chaco region.

Measure Speeded.
The measure was introduced almost immediately in the senate by Pittman, democrat, Nevada. Introduction in the house was prevented by an adjournment that already had been taken over until Monday.

Pittman said also he would seek early senate ratification of the general arms treaty asked by the president. This was drawn up in 1925 at Geneva. The president in asking ratification of it suggested the introduction of a measure to speed up the ratification of the treaty.

The ratification of that convention by this government, which has been too long delayed," he said, "would be a concrete indication of the willingness of the American people to make their contribution toward the suppression of abuses which may have disastrous results for the entire world if they are permitted to continue unchecked."

Declaring the private and uncontrolled manufacture of arms and munitions "a serious source of international discord and strife," the president intimated wholeheartedly the senate investigation of arms and munitions recently ordered.

Already Supported.
He has already told the Geneva disarmament parity of his support for an international agency to supervise and control munitions. He added today:

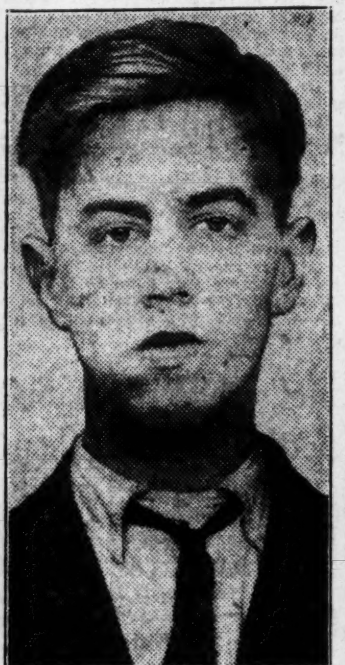

"Some suitable international organization must and will take such action. The peoples of many countries are being taxed to the point of poverty and starvation in order to enable governments to engage in a mad race in armament which, if permitted to continue, may well result in war. This grave menace to the peace of the world is due in no small measure to the uncontrolled activities of the manufacturers and merchants of engines of destruction, and it must

THEODORE BERRY.

The records and movements of five men were being investigated Friday by detectives as Governor Eugene Talmadge revoked the conditional pardon of M. L. Craddock, one of three held in connection with the "green sedan" robberies. W. M. Gilleland, O. B. Andrews, Company salesman, Friday identified Olen Smith, 22, as the man he struck in the face with a gun in an attempt to hold him up.

It also developed that Theodore Berry, who was arrested Thursday in Pensacola, Fla., as a suspect in the "green sedan" robberies, was pardoned unconditionally a year ago by Governor Talmadge while Berry, who was at liberty on parole granted by Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., Berry was serving a life sentence for his part in the murder of W. H. Cheek, Peachtree road grocer, for whose killing Mell Gore, Buckhead barber, paid with his life in the electric chair.

Those held at the police station on "suspicion" are Smith, Berry, John Guyton and George Whitehead, the latter two arrested in a burglary trap at 14 Alexander street, early Thursday morning when detectives shot and killed Garland Gignilliat. Craddock is being held in Fulton tower.

GENEVA, May 18.—(AP)—Signs of a new attitude on the part of Russia, which might bring about a European pact that would serve as a preliminary to an armament agreement, were seen by League of Nations circles today as the result of a visit here by Maxim Litvinoff, soviet commissar for foreign affairs.

Litvinoff, arriving unexpectedly, conferred with Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, and there were widespread reports that he discussed the possibility of a mutual assistance agreement, which would affect only the Russian European frontier.

Under such an agreement, Russia would assume sole responsibility for protection of her Siberian frontier, and other parties to the agreement would not be obligated to render assistance in case of a conflict there.

The soviet government is known to have insisted heretofore that any military assistance part must apply to a strictly European agreement providing for assistance in the event the political security of any of the signatories is threatened.

Such an agreement was regarded as a practical preliminary to an ac-

WASHINGTON, May 18.—With a view of relieving distress among rural families of Georgia, the federal emergency relief administration revealed today that it has endorsed a competitive rural rehabilitation program submitted recently by Miss Gay B. Shepperson, of Atlanta, state relief administrator.

In addition to relieving distress, the object of the program will be to provide means whereby rural family units of the state can become self-supporting wholly or in part within a period of three years and eventually successful farmers owning their own land.

"To this end," officials said, "it is proposed to change large acreage to small acreage per plot, to limit or eliminate production of staple crops for a period, to educate the farm people to an intelligence and spiritual experience of pride in scientific farming and independent ownership."

Provision is made in the program for the establishment of a state administrative organization comprised of a director who would be paid $3,000 annually, one administrative assistant at $3,000, one social welfare worker at $3,000, together with six division directors at $2,400 each, and a corps of other assistants and specialists with salaries ranging from $900 to $2,100. Each of the six divisions will embrace 10 districts, and one to four counties included.

Farm supervisors will be named for each of the 60 or more districts thus created, and paid a base salary of $1,050 to $1,800 annually, while there

BRITAIN REFUSES TO CURB JAPANESE WITHOUT U. S. AID

Simon Makes It Clear
London Will Respect
Chinese Rights But Will Not Fight for Them.

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—Emphasizing the war peril behind economic pressure, Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, made it clear today that Great Britain will take no action against any treaty violator without the full co-operation of the United States.

Armed forces will not be sent to the far east to "preserve" China's integrity, Sir John declared in a vigorous defense of the cabinet's foreign policy, after a charge had been made in the house of commons that Japan is "pushing her imperialistic expansion into north China for the purpose of creating Manchukuo number two."

"Economic sanctions (pressure against a treaty violator) cannot be applied without the risk of war," said the foreign secretary in the course of his speech. "And we cannot undertake any system of sanctions or effective action unless the United States co-operates."

To Respect Rights.
However, he declared, Britain intends to fulfill her obligations under existing treaties to "respect" China's rights.

As to Japanese intentions, Great Britain has that nation's "solemn word" that she will respect China's boundaries, Sir John asserted.

Simon's declarations were variously interpreted in foreign quarters here. Some believed he is bidding for closer Anglo-American co-operation in world affairs, by seeking to force the United States into a new policy on European and far eastern questions.

The view of other observers was that he hopes to influence Japan to change her China policy by friendly means rather than by harsh tactics. "Great Britain has never signed any treaty to preserve the territorial integrity of China," Simon declared emphatically, "dealing that there is any obligation to use the army, navy or air force for that purpose."

Government Lambasted.
Being adjournment day for the house of commons, the opposition, led off by Sir Stafford Cripps, former laborite minister, took occasion to lambast the national government's foreign policy as one of "vacillation and weakness."

"Japan is converting Manchuria and Jehol into a vast military base," Sir Stafford charged as he set forth crisply his charges against Tokyo.

The promises of Japanese Foreign Minister Koki Hirota to respect China's integrity, he declared, cannot be believed. He intimated that Germany, Japan and Turkey might form an alliance, charging that Japan and Rigid rules against smoking on the campus are burdensome to only 17 per cent of the entire student body at Agnes Scott College, results of a comprehensive questionnaire showed Friday.

Following the recent agitation of a group of students at the Presbyterian college in Decatur, to be allowed to smoke on the campus, the questionnaire, which was distributed and compiled by the student government association, revealed that 69 per cent of the girls do not smoke at all, and that only 20 girls smoke as a regular habit. The Agnes Scott student body comprises about 400 girls.

The figures were announced Friday by Miss Mary Macdonald, president of the student association, who asserted "We feel that these facts are conclusive, since the compilation was not made until every student had answered the questions."

"In this way the agitation of a small group has been replaced by the

Lee Statue Accepted At Nation's Capitol

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—After all these years, Virginia finally got two statues officially placed in Statuary hall tonight because congress decided the Civil War was over.

In 1908, Virginia offered to place two statues—of George Washington and Robert E. Lee—in the room at the capitol where the nation's heroes stand in bronze and stone. Congress was willing to take the Washington statue, but refused to accept Lee's because he was the military leader of the southern rebellion.

VIOLATION OF NIRA CHARGED TO MILL IN NORTH GEORGIA

Richmond Hosiery Mills,
Subsidiary and Officers
Cited in Bill Returned by Federal Grand Jury.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 18.—(AP)—The Richmond Hosiery Mills of Rossville, Ga., today were indicated by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to violate the hosiery code and of an overt act to violate the national recovery act. Five officials of the mills also were named in the conspiracy indictment.

The Standard Production Company, Rossville, also was named in the conspiracy indictments.

Lawrence Camp, United States attorney for the northern district of Georgia, said the government contended that the companies conspired to operate three shifts in violation of the hosiery code and described the alleged overt act as a charge that the hosiery mill set up the Standard Production Company, which the government called a "dummy" corporation, with the purpose of leasing the mill to it to run the third shift.

Camp said the officers of the hosiery mill named in the indictment and their titles were: Garnett Andrews Sr., president; J. Harvey Wilson, general manager; John A. Chambliss, director and counsel; A. W. Chambliss, chairman of the board, and T. B. Preston, director. Each of the officers was directed to post bond of $1,000.

The case was transferred to the Rome division of the court, and will be called for trial next week.

The indictments were returned shortly after Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood held the NRA was created in an emergency and is constitutional and refused to grant the hosiery mills an injunction preventing Camp from presenting the case to the grand jury. The mill, just across the state line from Chattanooga, was charged with having agreed to operate its plant in excess of the total number of hours in the code.

It charged the NRA was unconstitutional and sought to prevent the attorney from going before the grand jury.

The court's decision said "the court finds that a national emergency exists which has greatly affected interstate commerce; that the national industrial recovery act, enacted to meet said emergency, is constitutional."

Judge Underwood added that the hosiery code is a valid and constitutional regulation of transactions affecting interstate commerce.

The court denied a supersedeas to the mill so the suit could be taken to the court of appeals.

WILL NOT CONSENT TO BUILDING PLAN, SAYS TALMADGE

Lease Consummated Between N. C. & St. L. and Benjamin F. Joel; First
Unit To Front on Whitehall at Street Level.

GOVERNOR CLAIMS RENTAL FOR STATE

Executive May Claim
Structures as State
Property; Work Will Be Started in Two Weeks.

Despite refusal by Governor Talmadge to agree that the lease of the state railroad property to the N. C. & St. L. Railroad included air rights over the property, a deal was consummated here Friday between the railroad and Benjamin F. Joel, Atlanta capitalist, lessee, by which the road will build store buildings, garages, etc., over the tracks between the Pryor, Whitehall, Broad and Forsyth street viaducts.

Governor Talmadge, when notified that the deal had been made, said that his position had not changed since he wrote a letter about two weeks ago, stating that he would not consent to such proposal unless the state received adequate rental for its air rights over the property.

"I have heard nothing of the deal since that time," the governor said, "and I do not believe they are legally constructing such buildings without the consent of the state."

The governor said he contemplated no immediate action in the matter, following his usual policy of "not crossing bridges till I come to them."

Asked what his policy would be should actual construction start, he reiterated that he did not know, but indicated he might allow the building to proceed and then claim it as state property.

"Maybe they are just going to build something for the state," he said.

Isadore B. Bleich, of Bleich and Company, real estate firm, negotiated the lease with F. A. Wright, real estate agent of the railroad. Details include a 25-year lease to the property and the immediate erection, by the railroad, of the first construction unit contained in the lease.

The second unit, under the present plan, will be a garage with a 2,000-car capacity. This will extend back to the Pryor street viaduct, completely covering the railroad tracks between Whitehall and Pryor streets.

Exact details of units to be built over the tracks between Whitehall and Broad streets and between Broad and Forsyth streets were not announced Friday.

In addition to the 2,000-car garage planned at the rear of the store building on the Whitehall viaduct, there also will be open air parking space, it was stated, on the roof of the stores and garage.

To Sublease Units.
As fast as each unit is completed, Governor Talmadge will sublease to the actual occupants. Mr. Bleich said that, although none of these subleases have actually been closed, there are at least three would-be lessees for each of the four stores. Two women's ready-to-wear concerns, a millinery store and a drug store are probable occupants, he said.

J. B. Hill, president of the railroad, said in Nashville Friday night

$30,000 BANK RAID LAID TO DILLINGER

Desperado's Hand Seen in Flint Foray Although He Took No Part.

FLINT, Mich., May 18.—(AP)—A scar-faced machine gunner led a raid on a branch bank here today and, although it was doubtful if the nation's No. 1 bad man himself was a participant, police suspected that John Dillinger, leader of the "Public Enemy" gang, had replenished his war chest with $30,000 more of bank money.

It was a typical Dillinger foray, carefully timed to follow the delivery of $100,000 from the home office of the Citizens Commercial and Savings bank, but a multiplicity of identifications cast increasing doubt upon the actual presence of the notorious fugitive.

All identified, a customer, first declared that it was Dillinger, scar and all, who prodded him with a machine gun and threatened to "blow your brains out" at the first overt act. By nightfall, however, four other members of the robber gang had been identified by various witnesses, from photographs, as the elusive desperado.

The robbers waited outside the Glenwood avenue branch bank until an armored car had been driven away after the delivery of $100,000 in currency. A man with a sawed-off shotgun and a woman sat in one car. Four men waited in another.

Only $30,000 of the money just delivered had reached the cage; the rest still was in the vault. The robbers, apparently knowing approximately the amount that should have been on hand, demanded more money but, finally left without it.

Harry Stampan, branch manager, stepped on a robbery alarm as the men entered, but before the police could cover the two miles from downtown the robbers had fled.

Drop From Sight. With mystifying rapidity they dropped from sight. Some witnesses said they took Highway M-21 out of the city, toward Grand Rapids. Others said they circled back toward the downtown section. There was no report that four of the men had changed to a yellow sedan, which was seen headed toward Detroit on the Dixie highway.

A quickly organized pursuit by state police, local police and sheriff's officers was fruitless.

Although Roland was confident at the moment he was confronted by Dillinger, he kept his presence of mind. A teller had just pushed toward him a small pile of currency in exchange for some checks. Before he put up his hands, Roland shoved back the currency and recovered the checks which he stuffed into his pockets.

While the robbery was in progress, heavily armed police were lying in ambush in the banks of Bay City, 47 miles further north, where it was planned that a bank robbery was planned there.

$350,000 BUILDINGS TO RISE OVER RAILS

that the deal was being handled by Mr. Wright in Atlanta and that so far as he knew it had not been closed but was still under consideration.

"If the building is constructed," he said, "it will be rented for retail stores and will be built as a company investment." He declined to estimate the probable cost.

It was pointed out that, regardless of the outcome of the governor's stand in regard to the state's interest in the air rights, the property would revert to the state in 1935, when the railroad's lease on the state expires. This, however, would not affect Mr. Joel's lease, inasmuch as it will expire in 1935, ten years prior to the state lease.

Tracks To Be Covered. Completion of the entire project will mean that the railroad tracks for the three blocks between Pryor and Pryor streets will no longer be visible from the street levels. The smoke from locomotives will be disposed of through special flues, or condensers.

The area to be covered by the tracks, containing the four stores, comprises 71 feet frontage on Whitehall street with a depth of 100 feet. The main entrance to the garage, in the second unit, will be from Pryor street while persons parking their cars in the open air above the store unit may reach by stairways from Whitehall street.

The actual improvements are being made by the railway, it was stated, with Mr. Joel leaving the property after it was completed.

E. C. Seix, Atlanta architect, has drawn plans for the project and will supervise letting of contracts, it was stated. Legal matters in the deal were handled by John L. Tye Jr., of the firm of Tye, Thomson & Tye, for the railroad, and by Herman Heyman, of Heyman, Bolding & Heyman, for Mr. Joel.

PARTY TO VISIT MOUNDS TODAY

dent of The Constitution; Dr. C. C. Harold, of Macon, president of the society, and Mrs. H. Wayne Patterson, secretary, were the principal speakers at the dinner. Dr. Harold presided over the round-table discussion which followed the formal program.

The historical value of unearthing the Indian mounds throughout the state and the country was stressed by Dr. Harold in his address in which he compared this type of work to the excavations in Italy that revealed the glory of old Rome.

"For a thousand years the forum of old Rome lay covered by the dust of centuries after the city was taken by Goths and vandals and only in recent years was the forum uncovered," he said.

"Many of the mounds in Georgia antedate known history by hundreds of years and it is only through archaeological research that we will ever be able to know the civilization that existed here before the advent of the Spaniards."

"Indians were in this country centuries before the coming of Columbus. Where they came, how they lived, but if we follow this research back and still further back, we shall, in all probability be able to prove the general conclusion now held that the Cherokees and Creeks and other Indians originally came from Mexico, coming there from South American coasts."

"The Indian pottery and examples of Indian work which can be found in these mounds are the historical facts to which the world is turning in the date period of prehistoric Georgia and historic Georgia," he asserted.

The exhibit displayed the stone dogs found by Gillespie and said that they certainly had meaning, though at present we do not know what that meaning is in relation to earlier Indians.

Patterson emphasized the importance of local work and told of the part untrained archaeologists can do in helping to create interest in the research and aid in supplying museums with relics.

Members of the society and any others interested will meet at 10 o'clock this morning. From there they will go to the Etowah mounds, a few miles southwest of Cartersville. The mounds are of the late prehistoric period, about 1,000 years old.

Administrative costs of the program have been placed at $467,850, of which $240,000 will be accounted for by the transfer of existing relief personnel and travel expense, leaving a net cost for the program of an estimated $226,850 annually.

Plans call for the establishment of a state advisory committee of outstanding citizens to function in the administration of the program. County advisory boards will also be set up, consisting of the county agent, home demonstration agent, vocational teacher, county relief administrator, and other citizens to be named by other members of the committee.

Officials of the FEPA have suggested that the state advisory committee be composed of representatives from the state extension service, the state office of vocational education.

For administrative purposes the state is to be divided into three groups. Group one includes the counties of Bibb, Chatham, Clark, DeKalb, Floyd, Fulton, Glynn, Muscogee and Richmond. This is designated the urban group.

Group two is the industrial group, including Elbert, Peach and Upson. Group three is a combined rural-urban group of 21 counties, namely Baldwin, Bartow, Ben Hill, Carroll, Cobb, Colquitt, Coweta, Crisp, Decatur, Dougherty, Hall, Laurens, Madison, Spalding, Stephens, Sumter, Thomas, Troup, Ware and Whitfield.

The rural group comprises the remaining 126 counties of the state, in 1933 of which there is no community of more than 2,500 population.

According to an outline of the plan as presented here, officials expect to begin the rural rehabilitation program in the fourth group of counties.

In order to establish a working basis for the plan, officials have made a survey of eight counties, namely Baldwin, Bartow, Ben Hill, Carroll, Cobb, Colquitt, Coweta, Crisp, Decatur, Dougherty, Hall, Laurens, Madison, Spalding, Stephens, Sumter, Thomas, Troup, Ware and Whitfield.

Miss Shepperson went over the plan with officials during her recent visit to Washington and has since advised the state on the details of the plan with organization details immediately.

The chief executive pardoned Berry unconditionally in December of 1933, while Berry was out on parole from his life sentence. The parole was granted by former Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. on the recommendation of the prison commission after Berry opinion of the entire student body," she said. Seventy-seven per cent of the student body stated on the questionnaire that their parents would positively disapprove any change in the present rules, which prohibit smoking on the campus anywhere or any time at the college.

Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the college, had previously asserted that students who could not attend school without smoking could seek other colleges to continue their work.

The questionnaire summarily revealed that 78 per cent of the 129 girls who do smoke now did so before entering Agnes Scott, and that only 31 per cent of the smokers do so regularly.

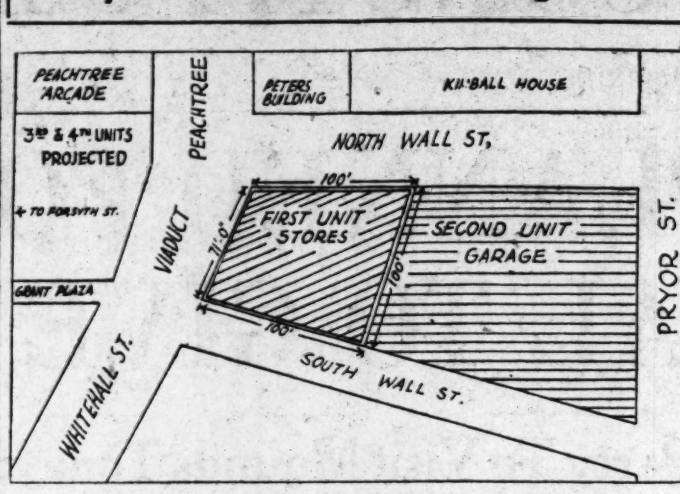

"We are pleased that the student opinion has been gathered since Dr. McCain has stated most definitely the stand of the administration on this subject," Miss MacDonald said.

"Since we have found that the majority of girls do not find the present rules burdensome, we feel sure that they will now co-operate in upholding the ideals of our college," she declared.

cord for the reduction or limitation of armaments.

Litvinov's visit revived discussion of the belief held in some quarters that the soviet union is giving serious consideration to membership in the League.

Prior to Litvinov's coming League circles gave indications of deep discouragement over the apparent passage in moves toward an accord. Now the comment has taken on a more optimistic tone.

An international pact of non-aggression as proposed by President Roosevelt was said in well-informed circles to be one of the suggestions Litvinov planned to put forward.

The soviet commissar's talk with Barthou is generally believed to have had to do, apart from disarmament, with the membership issue.

opinion of the entire student body," she said. Seventy-seven per cent of the student body stated on the questionnaire that their parents would positively disapprove any change in the present rules, which prohibit smoking on the campus anywhere or any time at the college.

Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the college, had previously asserted that students who could not attend school without smoking could seek other colleges to continue their work.

The questionnaire summarily revealed that 78 per cent of the 129 girls who do smoke now did so before entering Agnes Scott, and that only 31 per cent of the smokers do so regularly.

be met by the concerted action of the people of the nations of the world. The arms convention to which the president referred provides for setting up by the countries that signed it of a system of export licenses or special export declarations to cover each individual shipment of arms or ammunition from the territory under the control of each of the parties to the convention.

No legislation would be required to put into effect if the system of export declarations were adopted.

It would require full and accurate publicity for the international traffic in arms which American officials have said would constitute a first step toward effective supervision and control of the international traffic in arms.

Text of Message.

"I have been gratified to learn that, pursuant to a resolution of the senate, a committee has been appointed to inquire into the problems incident to the private manufacture of arms and munitions of war and the international traffic therein. I earnestly recommend that the committee be given the support of the senate in order that it may be enabled to pursue the investigation with which it is charged with a degree of thoroughness commensurate with the high importance of the question at issue."

The executive departments of the government will be charged to co-operate with the committee to the fullest extent in furnishing it with any information in their possession which it may desire to receive, and their views upon the adequacy of the present laws governing the export of arms and munitions of war and of the treaties to which the United States is a party for the regulation and control of the manufacture of arms and munitions of war.

The committee is to be empowered to investigate the manufacture of arms and munitions of war and the international traffic therein and to report thereon to the senate.

Germany have taken the same line of action in "flouting" the League of Nations.

The entire question of disarmament," he said, "is bound up in the China situation. If that nation cannot be sure of security, none can."

Britain must willingly participate openly and actively in an international program to guarantee the security of nations.

He rejected J. Edgar Cripps' interpretation of the obligations of Britain, and while he indicated that his government is willing to participate in the disarmament of nations, in specific cases, he emphasized the importance of American co-operation.

U. S. Praised. "I hereby gratefully and publicly recognize" the aid the United States has given to the League of Nations, Sir John said, but reminded the house that it "must understand the limitations under which the United States is likely to act."

"It must be recognized," he said, "that a policy of sanctions cannot be used like a bottle of medicine for dosage when and where it is needed."

"This is a matter necessitating the full review of each individual case and, before action by any power of this nature is taken, all interested must formally agree."

From the far eastern situation the debate went to Britain's position in the League of Nations, and Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, declared that Great Britain is eager for an agreement at Geneva.

Baldwin reiterated his recent statement that if disarmament fails, Britain will build up her air force to equality with that of any power within the world.

"Don't let us lose heart if, for the time being, it (the disarmament conference) should break down," Baldwin said, "the only feasible way to achieve it probably would be by an agreement on limitations sanctions."

The moment you are up against sanctions, you are up against the line of thought of my colleague, "you are up against war. There is no such thing as a sanction that will work that does not mean war."

"If you are going to adopt a sanction you must be prepared and ready for war. If you are going to force collective sanctions, you must be ready for war. You have got to make this country a good deal stronger than she is today."

NO OVERTURES MADE BY BRITAIN TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Great Britain has made no overtures to the United States seeking its co-operation in imposing economic sanctions against any other country, it was learned today, and the state department has no such plan under consideration.

Secretary Hull declined any comment on Sir John Simon's London statement concerning such action, or on any other phases of the threatened economic sanctions against Japan.

COTTON FARMERS LENT $14,965,854 IN GEORGIA

Georgia farmers have been advanced $14,965,854 on loans on the 1933 cotton crop by the Atlanta Loan Agency of the RFC, acting through Erie Coker, manager, as agent of the federal commodity credit corporation, it was announced Friday.

The revelation came immediately following the statement of three Atlanta clearing house banks Thursday that they had extended $15,500,000 in cotton loans under the corporation's plans.

The amount to be paid out by the Atlanta agency covers funds advanced or to be advanced. The agency has already paid out $14,920,913.12 of these funds and has approved the collateral offered for payments in amounts of $792,736.48 as of June 30.

MOVE BEGUN IN FRANCE TO PROHIBIT U. S. FILMS

PARIS, May 18.—(UP)—A campaign against United States moving pictures was revealed today. American film companies learned French producers have asked the government to prohibit importation of American films for three months. A favorable tariff on French pictures made in Germany was urged by French producers.

BOY SAYS DILLINGER STAYED AT SALT HOME

Son of Accused Woman, on Stand, Testifies Against Mother.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 18.—(UP)—A 13-year-old boy, Wallace Salt, testified today against his mother at a federal court trial which is an outgrowth of the escapes of the notorious John Dillinger.

Wallace's mother, Mrs. Augusta Salt, nurse, is on trial with Dr. Clayton May and Evelyn Frechette on charges of aiding Dillinger after his escape in March from a jail at Crown Point, Ind.

Miss Frechette formerly was Dillinger's sweetheart. She allegedly lived with the outlaw in an apartment here and helped him escape when federal agents raided the building.

The government charges that after one gun battle, Dillinger went to Dr. May and Mrs. Salt for treatment, that he was admitted to the home of Mrs. Salt, was treated and remained there until he recovered.

Dr. May and Mrs. Salt have admitted they treated a man for gun shot wounds in his leg, but deny they knew he was Dillinger.

The boy testified today Miss Frechette visited Dillinger, and he was recuperating in the Salt home. Wallace said he ran errands for Dillinger.

Extraordinary precautions were taken tonight to guard Mrs. Frechette from the public. Dillinger and his gang were seen entering the city. A remark that he would "get Evelyn out somehow" was attributed to the outlaw recently.

McCormick Love Suit Settled Out of Court

CHICAGO, May 18.—(AP)—The Herald-Examiner said tonight the $15,500 breach of promise suit, Mrs. Rhoda Tanner Doubleday brought against Harold McCormick has been settled out of court.

John P. Wilson, attorney for the husband, said the settlement was made by the paper as confirming the agreement and it was added that the action instituted by the New York divorcee would be dismissed soon.

The article said a "very substantial amount" was reported to have been paid Mrs. Doubleday to obtain the withdrawal.

Society of the nation's first and second cities was stirred by the suit and by the claims of the plaintiff that Chicago art patron had written her 68 letters during the supposed courtship.

Chairman of the International Harvester Company married Edith Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller Sr., and Ganna Walska, the singer. Divorces ended both matches.

Peachtree St. Home Damaged by Flames

Fire originating in an upstairs bedroom from a lighted cigarette which had been carelessly thrown away, caused considerable damage to a residence occupied by Mrs. Annie Butler, at 1332 Peachtree street, N. E., shortly before midnight Friday, according to fire reports.

Two companies answered the alarm and fought the flames for about 30 minutes before they were brought under control, while hundreds of theatergoers in the neighborhood stopped to watch the blaze.

Fireman T. H. Stallworth, of Company No. 11, was slightly injured while fighting the blaze. He fell from the door and fell down a flight of stairs, it was said. He was treated at Grady hospital for a twisted leg and permitted to return to his home. The amount of the damage had not been estimated Friday night.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, May 18.—(UP)—Colombia and Peru tonight ended a territorial quarrel which almost led them to war.

Agreement climaxed months of discussions between Colombian and Peruvian delegations under Brazilian auspices while the disputed territory was under control of a League of Nations commission.

ACTING AS ATTORNEY IS CHARGED TO JONES

A warrant charging John W. Jones, special investigator for the DeKalb superior court, with acting as an attorney without a license to practice law, was issued today by Judge Jones after a hearing on a complaint filed by Duren Farmer, charged with kidnapping a 16-year-old Scottsdale girl. After the commitment hearing before Justice of the Peace W. Langley, Farmer was bound over to superior court.

Jones was questioning witnesses when George Finch, attorney for Farmer, objected on the grounds that Jones was not a lawyer. He was overruled, and at the conclusion of the hearing

WALLACE MAY GET INCREASED POWER

Wheeler Urges Probe of Industries Handling Agricultural Products.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—A far-reaching federal trade commission investigation of industries handling farm commodities was proposed in the senate today by Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana.

Earlier, the senate agriculture committee had virtually agreed to report amendments to the agricultural adjustment act which would strengthen Secretary Wallace's power to license those handling the farmers' products. President Roosevelt made it known today that he is hopeful the changes will be approved this session.

Wheeler's resolution was referred to the agriculture committee. The Montana senator said he saw no reason why it should not be approved since "it seeks to get at the facts."

He introduced his proposal for an inquiry following charges recently by Secretary Wallace that there had been an organized attempt by manufacturers and other processors of agricultural commodities to block enactment of the amendments to the farm act.

His resolution would authorize the trade commission to investigate the financial position of the principal corporations engaged in "manufacturing, processing, distribution and marketing of principal" farm products. It would empower an inquiry into their capitalization, profits, salaries paid officers, income taxes, control over agricultural crops and also the extent to which co-operative agencies had entered the processing and marketing field.

Under the amendments proposed, there would be no doubt of the secretary's authority to bar handlers of a commodity affected by a meeting agreement from upstaging the program through non-co-operation.

The changes also would enable the licensing of producers who are at the same time distributors of their product. This would affect principally milk co-operatives and other similar groups.

The secretary could license processors and distributors of agricultural commodities with or without their consent, but quotas which directly affected the producer may not be applied unless two-thirds of the growers affected by a pact are in favor of such action.

The quotas or allotment clauses, however, may not be applied to wheat, cotton, tobacco and hogs.

J. E. BOWDEN SEEKS PAY CUT RESTORATION

Alderman James E. Bowden, of the fifth ward, announced Friday he will ask council Monday to take steps to restore the three per cent pay cut imposed on employees in the lower brackets.

His decision came as B. Graham West, city comptroller, prepared to distribute about $100,000 in semi-monthly pay rolls this morning. School pay rolls are due monthly, and therefore will not be paid today.

Bowden said salaries of employees in the lower brackets should be given the cuts imposed upon them in the general cut of non-school employees. Cuts now range from 3 per cent in the lower brackets to 13 per cent for the higher.

He also will offer a measure to place ambulance drivers at Grady hospital on eight-hour shifts instead of 12 hours as at present. The measure would entail the employment of an additional crew of drivers.

Vivisection of Dogs, Cats, Turtles Charged to Morehouse Instructor

Charging that vivisection is being practiced at Morehouse College, Mrs. A. Brown, secretary of the Atlanta Humane Society, swore out a warrant Friday in municipal court against J. C. Bridges, negro instructor of biology at the college. Judge Luther Z. Rosser set a hearing for 10 o'clock this morning on the warrant charging violation of the code section covering cruelty to animals. Bond was fixed at $300. Officials of Morehouse College said Friday that Mrs. Brown has been misinformed and that no such practice exists in the college.

"Vivisection has never been practiced at Morehouse," Dr. S. H. Archer, president of the college, said. "We use the bodies of dead animals only, and obtain them by the same means used by other schools."

Mrs. Brown told Judge Rosser that her action in swearing out the warrant came after she had received numerous complaints.

"People in West End have been complaining for a long time that dogs are being stolen by small boys who take them to Morehouse College," Mrs. Brown said, adding that when the owners of the animals apply at the school they cannot get in.

As J. Henson Tatum, city registrar, Friday prepared to demand payment of state poll taxes by 350 Atlantans who have registered for the municipal primary but who have not paid their taxes although they swore they had done so in taking the voters' oath, Charles W. Bergman, second ward school commissioner, announced he would not seek reelection.

Tatum said the 350 who swore they had paid required taxes, must do so "or else."

Under the new arrangement, every person who registers holds up his hand and takes the voters' oath, a part of which is that required taxes are paid. Those who did so without having paid the required taxes are subject to prosecution for perjury.

Bergman issued the following statement in announcing his withdrawal: "I shall not offer this time for the

PACKERS PROBE BARES VIOLATED PRICE PACT

Members of Combine Defied Fixed Rates in "Closed" Area, Says Witness.

JACKSON, Miss., May 18.—(AP)—Through its chief witness, the government today described efforts of an alleged combine of meat packers to maintain a fixed price structure in a "closed" northwest Mississippi territory, and charged the combine "broke down" because certain of its members refused to observe the price lists.

The testimony was given by Edward Hill, former manager of a delta produce and meat distributing concern, during the second day's hearing of a complaint filed by the department of agriculture charging a dozen packers engaged in price collusion and practices prohibited by the 1921 packers and stockyards act. Paradoxically, the government charges that the alleged combine had its inception in "cut-throat" competition, and that the same cause—under-selling—brought about its downfall.

Hill, who occupied the witness stand throughout the day, told of a meeting held in Memphis in August, 1932, at which he said seven packers operating in north Mississippi, and himself agreed to abide by a fixed price structure which was mailed out weekly to all the branch houses in the "closed" territory.

The agreement, he testified, was to be enforced by "police regulation," the packers at the Memphis meeting designating E. M. Doyle, of the Cudahy Packing Company, as "general policeman" with whom all complaints regarding price list violations were to be filed.

Hill said the alleged combine operated only six or eight weeks and "broke down" because some of the packers undersold the price list.

G. M. SHOW PLANNED HERE, IN OTHER CITIES

A nation-wide exhibition of General Motors products will be staged throughout the country the week of June 2 to 9, inclusive, including Atlanta. The program calls for holding, simultaneously, 60 exhibits, each a complete showing housed under a single roof, in the 60 leading cities of the United States. Each exhibition will last a full week. Admission will be free.

The period, June 2-9, has also been dedicated to General Motors at the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago. Coming during the biggest spring selling season in recent years, the exhibit will, it is expected, serve to prolong automobile selling and manufacturing and hence, employment beyond the usual peak in the automotive industry.

Featuring the shows will be the latest models of General Motors cars, including new lines which have been but recently introduced. There will be representative models of all makes equipped with either Fisher or Fleetwood bodies; the latest La Salle, with Fleetwood bodies; Buick straight eights, including the new low-medium "40" model; Oldsmobile straight eights and sixes; Pontiac eights and Chevrolets, including the recently announced Chevrolet improved standard six, the world's lowest-priced six-cylinder car. All of these cars, except the standard Chevrolet, have "knee-action" front wheels, developed by General Motors.

The Fisher bodies shown on the various lines of cars will exhibit the latest styling and craftsmanship, as well as the improved Fisher no-draft ventilation.

Among other General Motors products to be shown will be some of the latest developments of making life more livable, more comfortable, apart from transportation. These appliances will be exhibited by the Frigidaire and Delco appliance divisions. United Motors Service will be included in the exhibit, and these divisions will have an interesting display of accessories. Trucks of various types, uses and capacities, built by General Motors Truck Company and Chevrolet, will be shown in many of the cities. Music by well-known orchestras will be provided in each city, as well as other features of entertainment.

Atlanta Nets $51,250 Through Sale of Beer

Atlanta beer licensees have netted the city $51,250 for the past year, surpassing the predictions of even the most optimistic as to revenue gain, and fully justifying the confidence of Atlanta's mayor and council in the desire of vendors to pay a just and fair tax.

A year ago today the first beer licenses were issued in Atlanta. At that time, optimists predicted that $50,000 a year could be collected to strengthen a depleted municipal treasury.

J. Henson Tatum, city clerk, Friday said that 1,500 retailers have paid $30,750 into the treasury at the rate of $25 each quarter for consumption of the 3.2 brew on the premises; 308 have paid $12.50 each for sales of beer which was not to be consumed on the premises, adding another $3,500 to the total; 25 wholesalers paid annual licenses of $300 each, for a total of $7,500, and one paid a six months' license of $150.

The Atlanta council licensed the sale of the beer here, despite the fact that state bone dry laws prohibit such sales.

DEATHS FROM CANCER SHOW DROP IN GEORGIA

Cancer deaths in Georgia dropped from 1,207.4 per 100,000 population in 1931 to 1,031.1 in 1933, the state department of health reported Friday, but cancer still led all other diseases by a wide margin.

Heart disease caused the next greatest number of deaths in the state last year with 132.1 per 100,000 population, and pneumonia was next with 73.9.

Tuberculosis caused 59.1 deaths per 100,000 population, leishmaniasis 54.6; enteritis 29.8 and malaria 12.1.

2 NEGROES GIVEN LIFE FOR ROBBERY SLAYING

A. L. Dixon and Charlie Dixon, negroes, were given life sentences Friday by Judge C. J. Perryman in Fulton superior court after a consent verdict had been entered finding the two brothers guilty of the murder of Willie Palmer, another negro, last Easter.

Palmer's body was found in the Chattahoochee river, and the Dixon brothers told officers that they shot him and threw his body into the water after having robbed him of his automobile.

THE HIGH COST OF ACCIDENTS

A sad feature of the average accident is that IT ISN'T NECESSARY!

Prominent authorities claim that at least 90% of all accidents are avoidable.

The remedy is simple—THE PROPER USE OF CORRECT PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES AT THE RIGHT TIME!

According to the National Safety Council, accidents cost over $3,000,000,000 per year. This is the direct price in dollars and cents our nation is paying for carelessness, thoughtlessness, indifference to personal safety. AND ATLANTA'S PROPORTIONATE SHARE OF THIS APPALLING COST IS TREMENDOUS, DUE TO THE HIGH RATIO OF MOTOR CAR ACCIDENTS HERE.

DEPOSIT PAY-OFF WINNING SUPPORT

Provision Expected To Be Incorporated in Bank Insurance Measure.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—The house banking committee today agreed that the presidentially approved deposit insurance bill shall include provisions authorizing federal relief for depositors in closed banks.

It dropped hearings on the measure to extend temporary deposit insurance until Chairman Steagall, democratic, Alabama, and Representative Brown, democratic, Michigan, can draft a bill embodying changes in the "pay-off" plan.

Committee members said, however, there might be an intention to include the closed bank stipulation in the bill passed by the house only to let it be struck in conference.

As the tentative bill—yet to be finally approved by the committee—would shape up after the redrafting, it would raise the temporary deposit insurance maximum from $2,500 to $5,000 on July 1, 1934, and to $10,000 on January 1, 1935.

It is said, however, the $10,000 figure was being inserted only to make sure the limit would be raised to $5,000 on next July 1.

The new proposal also would allow the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to expand its stock three in order of five times to have funds with which to purchase the assets of banks already closed and another to pay off depositors in any banks which belong to the corporation and close later.

In addition, Steagall is to draft a new section to grant deposit insurance to mutual savings banks with their insurance limited to the present $2,500 figure. Mutual savings banks may not accept deposits of more than $7,500, and the $2,500 insurance covers over 98 per cent of the deposits and 70 per cent of the money on deposit with them.

For the other banks, the $2,500 covers 96 per cent of the depositors and 41 per cent of the money.

League Council Bars Further Aid To Liberia

GENEVA, May 18.—(UP)—Members of the council of the League of Nations today voted to abandon aid to Liberia, negro republic on the west coast of Africa, formed under United States sponsorship.

Simultaneously the British charged misgovernment in Liberia was sufficiently grave to consider the republic's expulsion from the League. This suggestion by Anthony Eden was rejected as an oblique suggestion that the League ask the United States to take a mandate over the Africa-American republic.

Britain and the United States were believed already to have consulted on the proposal, but rumors said Washington showed no interest in the suggestion.

The council took no action on Eden's proposal that it approach the United States for aid.

Macon Action Praised By Commander Dresel

SUNNYVALE, Cal., May 18.—(AP)—Relief of the dirigible Macon would demonstrate her worth in wartime was expressed today by Commander A. H. Dresel, after his ship arrived at its home port here 51 hours after it left Florida.

Commander Dresel was highly pleased with the performance of the Macon on her round-trip to the Caribbean, the longest training flight she has made.

The dirigible fought headwinds in crossing Texas and her commander said she might have made the journey in 45 hours had she not been held up by the Pacific coast for a day-light mooring. Officers said the Macon had required around 72 hours for her previous westward trip from Lakehurst.

3 CONGRESSMEN SUFFERING ATTACKS OF RARE AILMENT

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Three house members and the house sergeant-at-arms receiving daily treatment at naval hospital here for amoebic dysentery, relatively rare disease.

They are representatives McKown, of Oklahoma; Lehr, of Michigan; and Hess, of Ohio, and Kenneth Romney, the sergeant-at-arms. Mrs. McKown and Mrs. Lehr also are being treated. Romney said today all of them stopped at the Congress hotel in Chicago last October when bankruptcy receivership practices were being investigated for the house judiciary committee. Hess, he said, was in a Cincinnati hospital for seven weeks after contracting the disease at Chicago. Recently he spent two weeks in naval hospital.

The others were less seriously affected. The present course of injections will be continued three more weeks.

CHICAGO'S FAIR EXPECTS TO SHOW PROFIT THIS YEAR

CHICAGO, May 18.—(AP)—The World's Fair was out of the red legally today, but 12 million more persons must pay admissions this year to clear entirely the exposition's bonded debt. Four years ago businessmen and civic leaders underwrote the fair for $12,000,000 to protect bondholders in event the exposition failed to earn that amount.

A payment of $972,410 raised by advance ticket sales for the 1934 edition covered the last bond in the guarantee. Officials announced yesterday. Bonds for $5,889,680 more are still outstanding, but their holders have waived all legal rights against the guarantors, and are confident paid admissions this year will clear the entire debt comfortably.

With the advance sale greatly in advance of last year, officials believe the attendance mark of 25 million in 1933 will be surpassed.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

By H. A. CARTER

If you have ever known anyone who seemed to be in a constant state of irritation about something, consider the black snake as his reptilian prototype. Mr. Boland brought me a nice specimen this morning, seemingly in perfect health, but as irritable as a specimen as I have ever seen. He never learns, but continues to ram his delicate nose against the sides of the jar whenever a finger is poked jolly at him.

For a non-venomous serpent, this species is a mighty fine bluffer. I have seen black snakes in first-class imitation rattlers. I have jumped a fairly high fence upon hearing the sound of a rattler under my feet, only to peer cautiously over and see a black snake smiling a satanic smile of satisfaction of having routed me. I must hand it to the black snake for standing his ground at times.

I say at times because the temperament of the black snake is uncertain at best. I have seen specimens—rare specimens, they—that I could handle with all ease. I have seen others, by far the most numerous, that could be handled now but not 15 minutes from now. They may be docile as the average king snake or as vicious as the average natrix water snake.

Bills To Bolster Crime Laws Are Signed by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—A group of bills requested by the department of justice to aid the federal government in combating crime were signed into law today by President Roosevelt.

The measures—passage of which was hastened by the activities of John Dillinger, the outlaw—provide federal penalties for offenses which heretofore have been curbed only by state law.

One bill provides that if a kidnapped person is kept seven days it automatically becomes a federal crime through a presumption that he was taken across a state line.

Other measures would classify as federal crimes the participation of federal officers or employees in prison breaks, sending extortion messages in interstate commerce, fleeing across state lines to avoid prosecution or giving testimony in federal court, fraud or robbery of national banks, assaulting or murdering a federal officer or employee in line of duty, and interstate transportation of stolen securities.

"There will be no relenting," said the president in signing the legislation. "These laws are a renewed challenge on the part of the federal government to interstate crime. Law enforcement and gangster extermination must be made completely effective as long as a substantial part of the

Details Are Vital, Wrong Ones Have Brought Disaster to Victims

By RUTH FOWLER BROWN.
In a number of cases after having spent 20 long years behind the bars, a woman was recently released from penitentiary with an apology. Youth and beauty are gone. Alone, friendless and penniless she faces what is left of her life.

Why the apology? Because a court clerk wrote "years" instead of "months" in the record of the prisoner's sentence. Merely a mistake in "detail" but it ruined this woman's life.

Misplaced common sense once cost the United States government $2,000,000 before the mistake was discovered and corrected. Just another detail.

Writing of a clerk: Practical-commercial type. Logical reasoning, ability to handle details, carefulness, accuracy, mathematical ability. Should develop initiative and originality.

"Trifles make perfection and perfection is no trifle," said Michael Angelo, the great Italian genius. The ability to handle details is one of great importance in life, regardless of whether your ambition is to make a great commercial success or to attain a high position in society. And it is an ability that many people lack.

"Detail workers," is a phrase that has often been used in disparagement of those who have not yet attained to positions of authority and power, and a more incorrect conclusion has never been reached than that the ability to handle details is a bar to progress. Exactly the opposite is true—the man or woman who has at finger tips all the details and ramifications of a business is the person in direct line for promotion.

Many have climbed to success through the bookkeeping and accounting departments—and certainly those two professions require great ability to handle details. Napoleon Watched Details.

Napoleon was a great believer in details. He planned the exact route which each regiment would follow, the exact day and hour it was to leave its station and the precise moment when it was to reach its destination. These details so carefully planned were carried out to the letter. The result of that memorable march was his victory at Austerlitz which sealed the fate of Europe.

Mrs. Brown's work requires exceptional concentration and attention to details. If you have written to her and not yet received your analysis, please be patient. Give her enough time to check your handwriting thoroughly, so she won't hurry through it and make a mistake. Each handwriting is divided

5 PAY DEATH PENALTY IN 2 SOUTHERN STATES

Fred Lockhart Hanged in Louisiana for Attacking, Murdering Girl.

SHREVEPORT, La., May 18.—(AP)—Fred Lockhart, 38, lyncher, woman assaulter and murderer, hanged through the gallows to his death here today for criminally assaulting and murdering a young bride-elect in April.

Almost simultaneously, two men were hanged at Gretna, across the river from New Orleans, for killing a grocery clerk in a hold-up.

Lockhart, the paper butterfly and trickster, who flashed his tinsel wares before the eyes of Mae Giffin, 15-year-old school girl, lured her from her home by promising her employment.

He admitted that he criminally attacked the girl, then, vexed at her resistance, stabbed her to death.

A crowd gathered hastily about the city's skyscraper courthouse, with the jail atop, after Lockhart's confession became known, and officers with trained machine guns and tear-gas bombs repulsed a howling mob of thousands of persons who sought to lynch the "butterfly man."

National guardsmen were called out to restore order. It was then that Lockhart admitted that his real name was D. B. Napier, and that he had escaped from a Georgia penal colony where he was serving a life term for a criminal attack.

Later, seeking comfort from the Bible, he told authorities that he had driven the automobile for the lynchers of Leo Frank in the sensational case in Georgia many years ago.

Frank, the accused slayer of a young girl, was wrested from the state prison.

"I know now how Frank felt when the mob battered down the doors," Lockhart said, discussing his narrow escape from the lynch-bent mob which sought him.

He was escorted by Dallas and John Capaci, who were riding with him, to the gallows where he was taken to the bank for his firm.

Lockhart walked calmly to the gallows today, singing snatches from "The Old Devil's Mad," and "I Am Glad, Hallelujah."

He wrote letters to his common-law wife who lived with him in a dilapidated house in the hobo jungle, and completed his "life history," which he handed to the sheriff, asking that copies be given to his sisters.

He was cheered by the arrival yesterday of his nephew, C. W. Napier, 20, of Cordele, Ga., Lockhart's former boss.

The trap was sprung under him at 12:13 p. m., and he was pronounced dead 13 minutes later.

The necks of Dallas and Capaci were almost severed by the force of their drop.

As Dallas was being led past Capaci cell, the gallows, Capaci reached out, drew him near, and said "Kiss me, George."

The men kissed.

They had been at odds with each other since their trial, in which each accused the other of firing the shot that killed the grocery clerk.

TWO MEN ELECTROCUTED

FOR MURDER IN CAROLINA
RALEIGH, N. C., May 18.—(AP)—Mike Stefanoff, 45, native of Bulgaria, and James Sheffield, 47, were electrocuted in North Carolina state prison today for murder.

Stefanoff went to the chair first. Neither he nor Sheffield had anything to say in the death chamber.

Stefanoff was one of four men convicted of the murder of T. C. Barnes, officer of a Taylorsville bank. The four tried to rob the institution last July and when they were resisted they killed Barnes and seriously wounded Solon Little, another bank official.

Sheffield was convicted of the ambush murder of James Miller, of Haywood county. The man was

COUNSEL FOR POSTAL STRESSES CODE NEED

NRA Concludes Hearings Proposal To Improve Com- munications Code

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—NRA today concluded public hearings on its proposal to impose a code on the telegraph industry, after Postal Telegraph officials had renewed requests for that action.

Howard L. Kern, Postal counsel, told officials his company had considered all other means of obtaining relief from what he called unfair practices; that the proposed communications commission could not work fast enough to give the necessary relief; that congress could not legislate directly to curb abuses, and that the code was the only way out.

H. Griawold, executive vice president of Postal, said the code's labor provisions, including a 40-hour week, would cost his concern $2,707,000 a year and that the benefits to be gained, though substantial, would not fully offset this increased cost.

He insisted, however, his company was willing to undertake the labor proposal in expectation of eventual benefits.

Leighton H. Peebles, deputy administrator, concluded the session with announcement that the hearing could be reconvened at the will of the administrator. He gave no inkling as to whether NRA intended to go through with imposing the code.

RUBIN'S WILL OPEN NEW STORE TODAY

Rubin's, the department store for women, will open in its new location today. Formerly at 197 Peachtree street, Rubin's is moving to 181 at the corner of Ellis, formerly the quarters of the First National bank.

This corner has been completely remodeled and meets in every respect the requirements of a specialty shop of this type. It is claimed to be the most completely daylight store in this section.

All merchandise in the new store will be displayed on the first floor. This makes for the convenience of the customer. Women's and juniors' ready-to-wear, and accessories of all kinds, hosiery, gloves, underwear, neckwear, bathing suits and sports wear are included in this impressive display.

Special stress will be laid on the millinery salon, which is described as a shop within a shop.

Growth of Rubin's business since the opening three years ago, in 1933 sales were 42 per cent greater than in the year preceding.

"This increased business," Sol Rubin, president of the firm, pointed out, "was not the only reason that prompted us to move to new and larger quarters. Our move to larger quarters is indicative of our faith in Atlanta and its people and our belief that better times are definitely here and that business is definitely on the upward trend."

Mr. Rubin is one of the most widely known specialty shop executives in Atlanta, having been engaged in the business here for 18 years. Three years ago he opened the Rubin's store at 197 Peachtree street. The new store, he pointed out, not only is twice as large as the old location, but will involve a sales staff increase of approximately 50 per cent.

The opening today, it was announced, will be featured with presentation of flowers to ladies and silk compacts to purchasers.

Trial Postponed.
MIA II, Fla., May 18.—(AP)—Trial of Mrs. Mabel K. Miller, wife of former Mayor Victor J. Miller, of St. Louis, and his secretary, Leonard C. Schofield, charged with statutory offenses, today was postponed until June 11. Next Tuesday originally was the day tentatively set for the trial.

charged with hitting Miller when he attempted to shoot James Welch, with whom he had a number of quarrels.

On the Air Today

ALL SPORTS STARS—Outstanding stars of the sports world will take part in a special one-hour program over the nation-wide Columbia chain and WGST from 6 to 7 o'clock tonight. With Ted Husing as master of ceremonies and an orchestra under the direction of Gus Haenschen supplying incidental music, champions of boxing, baseball, tennis, football and other sports will discuss their experiences and their future hopes.

Primo Carnera, heavyweight champion of the world; Jimmy McLarnin, world's welterweight champion, and Barney Ross, lightweight champ, will represent the ring.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, will be baseball's representative. Benny Friedman, football coach of C. C. N. Y., and considered one of the greatest quarterbacks of modern times as a student at Michigan, will talk about prospects in his particular sport for next fall. Gene Sarazen and Ellsworth Vines will represent golf and tennis.

"ROSE MARIE"—The ever-popular "Indian Love Call" from Rudolph Friml's opera, "Rose Marie," will be the featured selection in the Gretz Kostelanetz orchestra and chorus to be broadcast over the Columbia network and WGST from 7 to 7:30 o'clock tonight. The equally popular song, "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Ethelbert Nevin, from a poem by Frank L. Stanton, and the aria "Je Veux Vivre" from Gounod's opera, "Roméo and Juliet," will complete Mme. Stueckgold's concert.

A choral feature of the broadcast will be a performance of "Deep Night" in a special arrangement by its composer, Charles Henderson, pianist and arranger for Kostelanetz. Although this song gained tremendous popularity during recent years, Henderson has never before made an arrangement of it, preferring to let others mould it to suit themselves.

In place of an atmospheric suite, Kostelanetz will present his orchestra in a medley of dance tunes, including "Temptation," "We'll Make Hay While the Sun Shines," "Goin' to Heaven on a Mule," and "After Sundown." The opening waltz group will consist of "On Miami Shore," "Moon of Desire" and "My Wild Irish Rose." The remaining selection by the orchestra will be "The Old Water Mill."

HANDICAP—The running of the Metropolitan handicap, one of the turf highlights of the spring meeting at Belmont park, will be described over the WGST-Columbia network at 2 p. m. today by Thomas Bryan George, as the second of the four races to be covered by CBS during the current meeting of the Long Island track. The Metropolitan, a one-mile handicap event for 3-year-olds and upward, is an annual classic of the turf calendar.

BACH CONCERT—Jacques Jolas, founder of the Louisville Little Symphony orchestra, and H. Arthur Brown will share the direction of the orchestra in a special all-Bach program over the Columbia network, including WGST, this afternoon from 1:30 to 2 o'clock.

The Brandenburg Concerto, Number 3, will open the broadcast, with Jolas conducting. It is one of the six concertos written by Bach in honor of the Landgrave of Brandenburg.

Brown will direct the orchestra in the second selection, the Three Piano Concertos in D Minor. In addition to Jolas, Cornelle Overstreet and Dwight Anderson will appear as piano soloists. This is one of Bach's rarely heard works and is known for the "conversational" manner in which the solo instruments alternate in tutti and individually.

SPREADING STRIKE GRIPS TWIN CITIES

Truckers' Dispute Hampers Deliveries of Food and Other Necessities.

By the Associated Press.
Shortages of food, gasoline and other necessities feared an acute stage in the Twin Cities Friday night as 6,200 striking truck drivers tightened their picket lines.

Gasoline stations were stoned and their pumps wrecked, bakeries closed for want of deliveries, truck gardeners, grocers and other shippers hampered by an almost complete halting of motor transport in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Scores of deputies were assigned to keep order. 84 persons were arrested and an appeal was made to the postmaster-general at Washington after the strikers stopped a truck load of gasoline destined for the Minneapolis postoffice.

during the day, and laundry and dry cleaning drivers announced they would join the walkout.

Governor Floyd B. Olson called a conference to mediate. The strikers demanded union recognition, closed shop and wage adjustments.

Agitation for a two-hour general strike at Cincinnati May 22, was started in leaflets bearing the signature of the "Solidarity Metal Workers Industrial Union," asking support of striking employees of the Formica Insulation Co.

HARRIMAN BACKS HOUSING MEASURE

Leaders Doubtful That Bill Will Be Passed at Present Session.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Henry I. Harriman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, today urged enactment of the administration's housing bill, while doubt grew among some senate leaders that the bill would get through at this session.

They—and house leaders also—said they had not been informed that the proposal designed to attract billions in private capital into home building and modernization was on the "must" list before adjournment.

It was added, however, that Mr. Roosevelt would like to see the program made law before congress quits but that apparently he would sacrifice it if the plan threatened to prolong adjournment.

Discussing the aims of the proposal before the senate banking committee, Harriman said the nation was "suffering primarily" from lack of employment in the durable goods and construction industries.

The housing program was drawn with these industries in mind. Its essentials are a government guarantee up to 20 per cent of loans for home modernization and repair; insurance up to 80 per cent of mortgages for new building and guarantee up to $2,500 of deposits in building and loan associations and similar institutions.

"This measure," Harriman said, "is one of the most important presented for your consideration. It attempts to give the necessary encouragement to private capital to go into the construction of housing."

The senate banking committee has been holding hearings since early in the week and the house banking committee today also began consideration of the program. Witnesses who have previously testified before the senate group were called.

MODEL A&P STORE OPENED AT BUCKHEAD

The A. & P. store system announced on Friday the opening of a model A. & P. store at 3075 Peachtree road. It, the company said, is unusual of its type, and offers everything the customer could ask in service, efficiency and convenience.

The new store offers its customers the semi-help service feature, which gives them time to make their own selections of merchandise. At the same time, clerk-help is available for those wishing it.

The new store is modernly equipped throughout. Its color scheme is dark and light green. It is a striking addition to the modern stores in the Buckhead area.

Fixtures are of all-steel construction, offering the ultimate in cleanliness and attractiveness, and electrical refrigeration is provided throughout for the display and preservation of meats, fruits and other perishable products, assuring their absolute freshness at all times. Various display counters, as well as the meat storage vault, are electrically lighted as well as refrigerated.

Despite the large size of the new store, and the extensive large supply of food products and meats that are stocked, the unique counter and display arrangements enable shoppers almost at a glance to determine just what products are in season and what are available in the store.

The new store, especially designed as an ultra-modern A. & P. food store, is under the management of W. L. Paris, who is widely known to shoppers in the Buckhead district. Others, equally as well known to shoppers in that district, are R. C. Cherk, assistant manager, and D. R. Shuman, manager of the meat department.

'HELL DRIVERS' PLAN SHOW AT LAKEWOOD

The "Hell Drivers" are in Atlanta. Headed by "Lucky" Teter, world's champion automobile crasher, this group of 10 super-daredevils will put on their show Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Lakewood park, under the sponsorship of American Legion Post No. 1 of Atlanta.

"Lucky" Teter will need all the luck of his colorful nickname Sunday afternoon, for he has added a brand-new stunt to his program—a stunt that could be pulled in but few places in the world other than at Lakewood park in Atlanta.

Teter remains in his automobile while deliberately crashing the car over and over, and he is the first man in the world to do this stunt. He has imitators—but he is the originator.

In crashing the automobile over and over, a brand-new 1934 model sedan will be driven around the track between six and seventy miles per hour, and when Teter reaches a spot directly in front of the grandstand he will swerve the car sharply to the left, causing the car to roll over and over with Teter remaining in the car.

A ramp has been built from the top of the grandstand at Lakewood park and on Sunday afternoon a car will be driven at break-neck speed from this runway and will dive into the lake across the track from the grandstand.

The speed of the car and the upturn at the end of this ramp will throw the car between fifty and one hundred feet into the air and over the lake.

All doors on the car will be closed and "Lucky" Teter will be strapped inside. Divers in boats will stand by to make the rescue if their services are needed.

Regents Act Today On PWA Loan-Grant

The board of regents of the university system of Georgia will meet in special session at 10 o'clock this morning at the capitol to act on a proposed loan and grant of $2,800,000 from the federal public works administration for improvements and additions to the units of the system.

The meeting, called by Chairman Marion Smith of Atlanta, will begin at 10 o'clock. If the regents approve the proposal it will be taken into court for the approval of the superior court and then supreme court as the regents do not desire to pledge future assets of the system without judicial authority.

SENATORS PUSH ACTION ON TARIFF

G. O. P. Senators Assail Measure as "Dictatorial Grant of Power."

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Republicans denounced the administration tariff bill with vigorous epithets today while senate democratic leaders began laying plans for a limitation of debate to bring passage by next Friday.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, in charge of the bill, said in an interview off the floor, the democrats—constituting 60 of the membership of 96—would lose three or four votes but would pick up a republican independent for every democrat who left the reservation.

One republican after another took the floor today to call the measure everything from "reckless folly" to "amazing and dictatorial grant of power."

In the two days of debate only one democrat—Louis of Louisiana, who admitted he was a protectionist and was willing to vote for tariffs on goods of other states to get support for protection of his own—had spoken against the bill which would authorize the president to negotiate tariff-reduction agreements with other nations without ratification by the senate.

While the republican barrage was in full swing Senator Johnson, republican, California, offered two amendments which the democratic leaders said would be vigorously opposed.

One would prevent any foreign trade pact from taking effect until it had been submitted to congress and approved by law.

The other would exempt from the operation of the proposed law all agricultural and horticultural products except apples.

JAMES FRANCIS MOON DIES OF LONG ILLNESS

James Francis Moon, 59, former bookkeeper at the University of Florida, died Friday morning at his residence, 308 Elizabeth street, N. E., after an extended illness. "Twentieth Century"

Plays Rialto Today

"Twentieth Century" with John Barrymore starred and Carole Lombard in the principal feminine role, comes to the Rialto today, hailed as one of the cleverest comedies of the season and a worthy successor to the record-breaking success, "It Happened One Night." The new production, just as the Gable-Colbert smash hit, is a Columbia production.

In addition to the two famous players topping the cast, others to be seen include Walter Connolly and Roscoe Karns. It is a Howard Hawks production, made from the New York stage success by Ben Hecht, Charles MacArthur and Charles B. Muhlend.

The story all takes place on board the famous crack train, the Twentieth Century Limited, running from Chicago to New York. It involves the efforts of an eccentric theatrical impresario to secure a contract from a famous, but temperamental actress, his former mistress.

Such a contract would solve the man's financial worries as well as restore to his arms the woman he sincerely loves. But she is interested in her new manager, played by George Brent, and she also has not forgotten the older man for what she considers unkind treatment he inflicted on her in the past.

Such a story makes a grand and hilarious piece of entertainment and, surrounded with carefully chosen short subjects, should provide a program to keep the Rialto packed for many nights to come.

REFORMS ARE URGED FOR CITRUS EXCHANGE

Legal and Administrative Units To Weigh Proposed Reorganization.

TAMPA, Fla., May 18.—(AP)—Recommendations for changes in the organization of the Florida Citrus Exchange by J. W. Jones, of the farm credit administration, were referred today by the exchange directors to the legal and administrative departments.

Recommended changes included more direct representation by associations through elimination of sub-exchanges and division of exchange territory into 11 districts, merger of the exchange and its subsidiary, Growers' Loan and Guaranty Company; a new system of auditing, six district managers instead of four, and other administrative changes.

The changes were approved "in principle" by the directors a month ago and turned over to a committee for a report. The committee suggested next April 1 as the date that they should become effective.

C. C. Commander, general manager of the exchange, said today's action meant the proposed changes were being passed "to the people who are the Florida Citrus Exchange, the associations and sub-exchanges."

In the above photo is a scene of one of the thousands of beautiful spots of the garden.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD
Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Four cents paid in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Reader, what are you doing to get ready for old age? While you have youth and health it seems impossible that you should ever grow old, but old age is coming to you and if you don't make proper preparation for it, it will be infinitely lonely and wretched. Nature compensates us for everything we lose in youth and for many of the things we lose in maturity. She doesn't compensate us for the things we lose as we grow old. She doesn't compensate us for loss of sight and hearing, for hardened arteries and gnarled bones, nor for failing memory and faltering feet. Glasses and ear trumpets, canes and crutches may help out a bit. Children and grandchildren, if one is fortunate enough to have them, may provide some comfort and cheer. But nature is pretty well finished with us when we are old and we have to make out as best we can with what we have salvaged and stored away. The period of activity and productivity is at an end and we cannot expect the future to yield anything better of a physical or material nature.

Faith in God will stand you in good stead when you are no longer able to weed your own row. It will give you patience to endure the aches and pains, the sorrows and disappointments that come with the years. It will give you a spirit of resignation to the inevitable and enable you to say with Rabbi Ben Ezra, "Grow old with me, the best is yet to be." It will give you a calm outlook on the remaining years that will make life livable, and a fearlessness of death, which is at the end of all.

Beyond this, if you have the sweet spirit of faith you won't be lonely for the hale and hearty won't run from you as though you were the plague. They will seek you out for the pleasure of being with you, and strong arms to steady you, speak loud enough for you to hear them, come close enough for you to see them and count it a privilege.

In addition to faith in God you will need some money when you are old. Even though you have children and the prospect of grandchildren, even though you believe they will care for you in helpless age as you cared for them in helpless infancy, both you and they will be much happier if you have some money in the bank. It is one thing to live with children when you are utterly dependent upon them and quite another to live with them when you can provide your own food and clothes and comforts. There is such a big difference that if you are actually penniless and dependent you are likely to land in a home for the indigent poor and old, whereas if you have a bank account you are likely to be encoined in the best guest room of son or daughter. At least you will be watched over with tender solicitude by children who are expectant heirs. Shameful, but it's true!

Faith in God and money in the bank are not yet enough to make a full and contented old age. If you don't cultivate interests in life when you are young you may be a parasite on family or friends for entertainment when the period of inactivity comes. What sight is more pathetic than that of old people leeching on

Theta Kappa Psi's Plan Dinner-Dance

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Newberry will entertain members and pledges of Theta Kappa Psi, medical fraternity, and their dates with a dinner and dance Saturday evening, May 19. The affair will be a farewell entertainment honoring senior members of the fraternity, who graduate in June, and will be held at Dr. Newberry's summer camp, Pine Hollow.

Senior members are Wilbur D. Hall, Seth E. Barron, Mural M. Hagood, P. A. Drobomer, J. W. Sapp, J. E. Edmondson, B. J. Hodges, J. R. Woodford, R. B. Walker, H. B. Reading, J. P. Smith, J. S. Gilsom Jr., George Baier, Edward Campbell, Harry Miller, H. G. Fridge, F. G. King, L. J. Jennings.

Included among the guests invited are Mesdames J. L. Jennings, C. R. Walley, J. W. Sapp, W. D. Hall, R. F. Yates, E. B. Agnor, George Baier and Misses Willetta Chappell, Harriette Harris, Janie Nelle Henderson, Betty Burdette, Charley Simmons, Violet Simmons, Martha Mobley, Margaret Beasley, I. Hardman, Louise King, Mary Brown, Emily Campbell, Lorraine Smith, Helen Kapp, Katharine Bishop, Ann Babington and Helen Irvin.

Only the other day I heard of an old lady who had spent her youth in slavish devotion to her family and her home. She didn't go anywhere, read anything, or cultivate a single interest outside the four walls of her house. Her husband died and left her with an only daughter on whom the support of the family then devolved. Every evening when that girl comes from her office, tired, herself in need of diversion, she finds her mother with her face pressed against the window pane, eagerly awaiting her home-coming, avid for news of her day's experiences. That mother has no interest in life beyond the daily doings of her child, and so the young woman cannot get out for recreation that every hard worker needs. She must stay at home to fill the void that is her mother's mind.

Near by lives another woman about the same age. She spent her youth and maturity in quite another way, though she never neglected her home and family. She loved people, cultivated friendships, read ravenously, took an active interest in church and civic affairs. Now that she is old she retains her quick interest in people and events. She is not dependent on what her children bring in to her. She isn't leaching on anybody for entertainment. She is self-sufficient, able to share, rather than being forced to beg. She stored away interests while she was young; she made bright pictures that will not fade with the years and, in consequence, she is a charming companion for old or young.

Reader, are you going to make preparation for old age? If so, cultivate faith in God, diversify your interests in life, and put away some money in the bank for old age is on the way.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

The Trapper Trapped.

One of the most interesting features of bridge strategy is the effort of contending pairs to put something over on their opponents—in other words, to so direct the course of the bidding as to conceal strength or weakness from opponents and give partner just enough encouragement to continue with the contracting until the proper contract is reached. It is an old adage that "those who live by the sword shall perish by the sword" and so it is not at all strange that occasionally this type of play results in the trapper being trapped.

The hand below was a major disaster for East and West because South double-crossed the East play by failing to bid after he had made a takeout double, vulnerable. The unhappy outcome of the hand, so far as East and West were concerned, was that a hand in which a grand slam depended only on one finesse was played in a contract of one.

1—This camouflage double is fully justified by the holding of an eight-card suit. South desires to lay the foundation for a possible sacrifice even though vulnerable.

2—A trap pass. East is sure that South, with a hand strong enough for a takeout double, vulnerable, will re-enter the bidding. He hopes that he and his partner may be doubled for penalties at a low contract and desires to conceal the strength of his hand by this apparent show of weakness.

3—An excellent pass and incidentally a marvelous exhibition of restraint in bidding.

The holder of the South hand was Mr. Alphonse Moysse Jr., while the gentleman who set the trap for Mr. Moysse, holding the East hand, was Mr. Alfred Sheinwald, one of the better known of the younger composers of difficult bridge problems.

In the play, of course West made seven spades. The spade finesse was successful, and West discarded all his losers on the club suit in dummy. The hand illustrates two principles of excellent strategy: South's double with a long suit, although weak in honor-tricks, hoping thereby to conceal his lack of defense from his vulnerable opponents; and East's trap pass of his partner's overall after South's double, hoping thereby to create in the mind of the South player the fact that he could safely re-enter the bidding, as it should appear to him that the East and West

It can be done if each worker will stay on the job today and if each citizen will take time to consider his responsibility to the Red Cross."

FINAL INSTALLMENT.

Blossom shook her head. "It isn't the play." She leaned forward. A pleading tone crept into her voice. "Listen, darling! You're the most convincing talker in the world. Or maybe you're convincing to me because I love you so. To me you can make winter seem summer, and black white. So please, please... don't ask me to be logical; I only want to be honest."

Zukowski paused before speaking, then: "So do I. That's why I want you to come with me... unless you really love Yates. Do you?" Blossom looked into his eyes. The sincerity of her love was written in her gaze. "I love you, Tony. I did from the start. That's why I was afraid of you. And I'll love you always. I'll dream of you... and see your face in crowds... and when I play in the theater you'll always be in the audience, no matter where you are. Whenever I hear lovely music, I'll think of you..." She paused. "But I'm staying with Yates."

Blossom rose. She picked up her hat slowly, unwillingly. Zukowski stared at Blossom coldly. "You're white and free and over twenty-one."

Blossom turned to face him. "Don't hate me, darling. I hate myself plenty. Don't you see I can't leave him? I mustn't. I've hurt him enough as it is. He was an important man when I met him. And what is he now? A little old man who sits at home waiting for me. I've treated him terribly. I've got to make it up to him somehow. He's been so awfully good and generous, and I'm all he's got. How can I walk out on him now?"

Zukowski spoke savagely. "I'm sorry for Yates. Yes. Sure he was a great man in his own world—but he's just an old fool in the new world he stepped into—a ridiculous..."

Blossom put her hand over Zukowski's mouth. "Stop trying to be a villain, Tony. There are no villains—only people—human beings—all trying to learn how to play a sonata... and most of them failing." She paused.

"Oh, there you are! I've been waiting here for hours. The dress rehearsal was simply marvelous... you should have been there. Everybody thinks we've got a hit. What have you been doing this time of the morning?"

Yates smiled wanly. "Wondering..."

Blossom looked at him quickly, aware of the subtle change that had infested the man.

Yates endeavored to make his tone commonplace, light—but was not quite able to do it. His effort to be casual was pathetic.

"...and doing a lot of thinking—about us. I've been intending to tell you for weeks, but I kept putting it off. It's rather an awkward matter, naturally—but... well, it's about time the party was over. It was rather nice while it lasted. Of course, you'll remember... neither one of us ever said anything about a permanent arrangement, did we?"

Blossom stared, her eyes widening with incredulity.

Yates continued. "You have this house and your play, and I'll make you a satisfactory financial arrangement, of course..."

RESTLESS WOMEN

By JANE DIXON

The story of a girl born to a silver spoon and fed up with it—tired of fortune-hunting men, of gay young debbies lost to real living in a whirl of song-driven hours, she went out to find for herself a man who could be measured by his own qualities instead of by those of a long-dead ancestor. Her breathlessly exciting story starts on this page MONDAY.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.

The spirit of the "open season" appears in a letter from Maggie Rose Christian, who wrote to me on her twelfth birthday. It is a three-page letter and contains seven verses. One of the verses, on "Trees and Leaves," goes like this:

"Beautiful green trees
"Waving your branches with a sigh,
"Bright leaves blowing
"Oh, so high!"

Another verse on "Summer" reads:

"Summer is coming,
"Spring is here;
"The flowers are blooming.
"Summer is near."

It was because of the added pleasure nature gives us at this time of the year that I started the stories on "Little Trips Into Nature" last Monday. The series will go on next week and we shall speak about the flight of birds, about "sensitive" plants and other topics.

Stanley Kowalski sends me questions about lightning. He asks, "in the saying that lightning never strikes twice in the same place? How situated must an object be to draw a bolt of lightning? Will lightning strike any given tree?"

There is no sound reason to say that lightning cannot strike the same place twice, and some buildings have been struck two or more times; but it is not very likely that such a thing will happen in a given case.

There are hundreds of millions of houses and other buildings on earth, and even if several thousand are struck each year we can see plainly that there is little chance that one of them will be visited by lightning more than once, and even less chance that a bolt will strike exactly the same spot again.

High buildings, however, tend to attract lightning more than low buildings; and churches with tall steeples have suffered more than their share. Trees often draw lightning and some persons who have sought their shelter during a thunderstorm have been killed. It is better to stay away from trees at such a time.

CURE-TAKING

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—

Protestants gave the curb list

a somewhat irregular appearance today.

Variations at the close, however, were mostly of fractional limits. The market was only slightly more active on the reaction.

Some firms spots remained. Oils finished rather steady. Utilities were mixed, while metal recessions predominated among metals. In the specialty division General Motors was a strong feature, advancing more than a point in a brisk recovery.

Aluminum Company of America yielded 2 points. New Jersey Zinc lost 1, while Electric Bond & Share,

Hiram Walker, Newmont, Lake Shore,

Swift Carriers and International

Petroleum were fractionally lower.

Hollinger Gold and Crown Corp improved nearly a point each.

Transfer of approximately 248,000 shares compared with 198,000 for the previous session.

TARZAN AND THE CITY OF GOLD No. 48

Gemon, leaving the Queen's anteroom by another door, heard Tarzan's imperious tone to the noble, and smiled; but the noble did not smile. He frowned. The bronzed giant had spoken to him in a tone of command. But he "The slave, Tarzan."

The lord of the jungle stepped into the adjoining chamber, crossed to the center of it, and stood erect, silently regarding Nemone. He did not kneel. Erot was standing there at the foot of the couch upon which the Queen reclined. She regarded Tarzan calmly.

Erot scowled angrily. "Kneel, you fool!" he commanded. "Silence!" commanded Nemone. "It is I who will give commands," Erot flushed and fingered the golden hilt of his sword. Tarzan neither spoke, nor moved, nor took his eyes from the eyes of Nemone.

Though Tarzan had thought Nemone beautiful before, he realized now that she was even more gorgeous than he had believed it possible for any woman to be. "I shall not need you again tonight, Erot," said Nemone. "You may go." Tarzan knew Erot hated him now even more.

Cleopatra's Bathtub Is Only Flop As Memphians Hail King Cotton

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 18.—(AP)—With colorful parades, tenebrous music and noisy cheering, the Memphis cotton carnival continued successfully today, except for the little matter of Cleopatra's bathtub.

The old girl's tub played a minor part in the celebration as a whole, but it was rather disappointing to civic leaders to have to admit today that the thousands of visitors to the carnival have demonstrated that this particular exhibit is one they can take, or leave alone.

The tub, carnival officials insist, once cradled Cleopatra's queenly form. It was presented to a Memphis when he toured Egypt recently. Since the theme of this year's carnival is Egyptian, Memphis having derived its name from Memphis-on-the-Nile, it was generally supposed that Memphians would flock in to see the tub.

But a check and a double-check this morning indicated only $5.35 had been paid in admissions to the exhibit after two days of carnival.

Bob Snowden, one of the convention chairmen, and a former King

Cotton, as well, set about to remedy matters by reducing the admission fee from 15 to 10 cents and removing the exhibit to a better location.

Not only that, but realizing at last that the public "isn't as interested in archeology and Egyptology as we had hoped," Mr. Snowden said that from now on a "Queen Cleo" herself will occupy the tub, with a sheik giving her milk and honey baths and with incense and myrrh scents in constant evidence.

The "queen" will wear some modest bathing suit, said Mr. Snowden, "it will be a continuous performance, one bath right after another, and we expect to clean up."

The carnival will conclude with a grand parade tomorrow night. Nine thousand school children paraded in costume today.

The carnival is an annual tribute to the king of cotton.

The king of cotton has played in the upbuilding of the south.

EMORY SCHOLARSHIPS GIVEN TEN STUDENTS

All Parts of State Represented in Unusual Contest; Each Scholarship Worth $305.

Ten high school seniors in all parts of the state were awarded scholarships valued at $305 each by Emory University Friday night in one of the most unusual contests ever held to determine a student's preparation for college work, the judges of the contest announced. A total of 273 seniors in high schools participated.

Dividing the state into nine districts, the university also awarded a tenth scholarship to the contestant earning the highest average in the state at large. The highest average was made by William R. King, of Tonnelle high school, with a score of 78.20, a mark which educators said was remarkably high in view of the scope of the test.

Other winners were: Thomas Cobb King Jr., Darlington school; Marvin Dowdy Norton, Marietta high school; Harold Tift McDuffie, Fors high school; Robert Lanier Pendley, McDonough high school; James White Merritt, Gainesville high school; Earley Ashby Johnson, Coahoma high school; Henry Maurice Hatcher Jr., Dublin, the same district which produced the winner at large; William Meriwether Furrow, Albany high school; and George Fenwick Jones, Savannah high school.

The tests given were to reveal a knowledge of history, government, English, literature, one foreign language, mathematics, science and general information. Members of the Emory faculty said the test was designed to determine the contestant's preparation for college work.

The scholarships were awarded under sponsorship of the Emory University Alumni Association and the question test was conducted by the faculty. The tests were held on May 1, but due to the voluminous nature of the contest, grading of the papers has just been completed.

The steel code expires that last day of this month and the revised version is to take its place.

The unsettled point, the administrator said, did not involve any particular disagreement but required the compilation of some statistical information.
